Catherine Davis

special guest speaker

Catherine Davis works in an ongoing effort to educate Americans about the genocidal impact abortion has had on the Black community. A founding member of the National Black Pro-life Coalition, Catherine formed her own organization, The Restoration Project, in 2011 to advocate for the cause of life and family. She is a Magna Cum Laude graduate of Tufts University and attended the University of Bridgeport School of Law. She has also authored a number of books including The Fight for Life: Taking it to the Streets and Angels Among Us: The Battle for America. Early in 2010, Catherine partnered with The Radiance Foundation to launch one of the most news-generating pro-life campaigns ever, the "Endangered Species" billboard and web campaign. She has been featured in numerous TV, radio and newspaper media. Catherine is determined to expose the willful destruction of life by Planned Parenthood. Her combined education and experience have put her at the forefront of the abortion struggle. She is focused on positive change through education and peaceful action.
